*Honorable Mention, Bolton-Johnson Prize, 2014. Awarded by the Conference on Latin American History of the American Historical Association for the best book in English on any aspect of Latin American history.

Indigenous Struggle at the Heart of Brazil: State Policy, Frontier Expansion, and the Xavante Indians, 1937-1988 (Duke University Press, 2001).
Portuguese language edition: A luta indígena no Brasil: Política indigenista, a Marcha para o Oeste, e os índios xavante, 1937-1988 (Editora da Universidade Estadual de São Paulo, 2011).

A Taste of Brazil: The History of Guaraná

This research project traces the transformation of guarana, a caffeine-rich plant native to the Amazon, from a plant cultivated by the Sateré-Maué to a nationalist icon and namesake of a multibillion dollar industry. The study interweaves ethnohistory, the history of science, and the history of medicine with the rise of mass consumerism and nationalism in the developing world, retelling the history (or histories) of region and nation in Brazil from novel perspectives.
