Health Behavior and Health Education, Department of Kinesiology & Health Education, The University of Texas at Austin

- Director of the Gender Health Equity Lab and manage 7 graduate and 21 undergraduate students
- Awarded 3 competitive internal grants
- Designed and implemented 3 studies: biomedical interventions, HIV testing, linkage to care and PrEP, and impact of state mandatory reporting policy among university students
- Developed procedures, interview guides, questionnaires, and implemented 3 studies, conducted over 75% of interviews and focus groups, analyzed qualitative data, leading manuscript writing
- Collaborate with community organizations to recruit participants and provide HIV treatment and PrEP evaluations for funded studies and grant applications
- Communicate updates and findings to stakeholders (community organizations and funders)

EDUCATION

Ph.D., Health Promotion Sciences, Concentration in Global Health 9/2010 – 5/2015

School of Community & Global Health, Claremont Graduate University, Claremont, CA

Dissertation: Strength of Implementation Intentions Scale: Development, Evaluation, & Predictive Validity for Condom Use

Advisor & Dissertation Chair: Alan Stacy, Ph.D.

M.P.H., Health Promotion, Education, & Evaluation 9/2008 – 8/2011

School of Community & Global Health, Claremont Graduate University, Claremont, CA

Advisor: Darleen Peterson, Ph.D.

B.A., Psychology 9/2006 – 1/2008

Siena College, Loudonville, NY

Union College, Schenectady, NY

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs, CO

POSTDOCTORAL TRAINING

Ruth L. Kirschstein NRSA Postdoctoral Fellow in HIV Prevention & Qualitative Research 7/2015 – 6/2017

(T32-MH19985; Steven Pinkerton, PI), Center for AIDS Intervention Research, Department of Psychiatry & Behavioral

Medicine, Medical College of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, WI

Developmental Research Grant: PrEP Adoption and Adherence among High-Risk Black Women.

Mentors: Julia Dickson-Gomez, Ph.D., Andrew Petroll, M.D., M.A.

- Wrote and awarded NIH-style grant to conduct qualitative, longitudinal study among 31 African American women to determine PrEP awareness, acceptability, and feasibility of PrEP adoption (4 interviews across 6 months)
- Managed budget over $20,000
- Collaborated with 6 community organizations and clinics for participant recruitment and PrEP evaluation
- Developed study protocol and interview guide, recruited participants, conducted over 90% of interviews, managed retention efforts (93% retention), led coding and analyses among team of 3, led manuscript writing
- Communicated updates and findings to stakeholders (community organizations, clinics, and NIH)

FELLOWSHIP

Fulbright-Fogarty Fellow

9/2012 – 4/2013

Center for the AIDS Programme of Research in South Africa, Nelson R Mandela School of Medicine, University of KwaZulu-Natal, Durban, South Africa

Gender based Violence and HIV Risk among Rural Adolescent Girls

Mentors: Quarraisha Abdool Karim, Ph.D., Ayesha Kharsany, Ph.D.

- Developed a conceptual model and questionnaire to measure relationship control, cultural norms and opinions, personal relationship experiences, violent experiences, intimate partner violence, sexual violence, and childhood trauma among rural adolescent girls
- Conducted community focus group to ascertain face validity for the questionnaire
- Analyzed data on substance use and sexual risk among rural adolescents at high risk for HIV

PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

Research Assistant & HIV Health Educator

9/2010 – 6/2015

School of Community & Global Health, Claremont Graduate University, Claremont, CA

- Oversaw and trained 15 data collectors for two NIH R01 grants on substance use, HIV, and hepatitis B & C prevention
- Oversaw data collection efforts in the field at 20 drug diversion programs
- Wrote and provided feedback on significance and methods sections, and developed measures for an awarded R01 grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse
- Implemented and evaluated intervention effectiveness
- Developed, led, and trained 5 staff for an evidence-based HIV/Hepatitis B & C education for drug diversion clients
- Presented Understanding & Preventing HIV & Hepatitis for video recording of HIV/Hepatitis C prevention education to be used in future interventions

Capacity Building Assistance Intern

3/2010 – 9/2010

Shared Action, AIDS Project Los Angeles, Los Angeles, CA

- Provided capacity building services to a local organization implementing an HIV prevention intervention (DEBI)
- Co-facilitated a motivational interviewing training for local HIV/AIDS organizations
- Developed a webinar addressing substance abuse among individuals at risk for HIV
- Created a professional development series regarding skills needed for health department program managers

RESEARCH SUPPORT

Current

PRC Seed Grant Principal Investigator 4/2020 – 8/2021

Population Resource Center Seed Grant, $20,000

“Students’ Perceptions of SB 212 on Reporting Sexual Misconduct”

This study will explore undergraduate and graduate students’ opinions and intended disclosure practices regarding the new state law, Senate Bill 212, that went into effect January 1, 2020. SB 212 requires all responsible employees to promptly report witnessing or receiving information surrounding sexual misconduct to Title IX, regardless of the survivors’ wishes.

Small Grants Program Principal Investigator 1/2020 – 12/2021

College of Education Small Research Grant, $9,139

“Formative Research to Develop Empowered to Test Yourself: Increasing HIV/STI Home Testing among Low-Income Black Women at Risk for HIV in a Geographic Hotspot”

This formative study explores theoretical components of a proposed web-based intervention to increase HIV/STI home testing among low-income Black women at high risk for HIV to determine culturally appropriate and relevant constructs to include in the web-based intervention, Empowered to Test Yourself.

Loan Repayment Program Renewal National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, $100,000 "HIV and Intimate Partner Violence Risk Reduction among Black Women in Central Texas"	Principal Investigator	7/2020 – 6/2022
This study aims to conduct formative research to explore theoretical constructs to develop a web-based intervention to increase HIV/STI home testing, treatment, and PrEP evaluations among low-income Black women in the South. Results will be used to apply for NIH funding to implement the intervention.
Submitted
Center for Observational and Real-World Evidence Merck Sharp & Dohme Corp., $400,077 "A User Acceptability/Preference Study of Oral, Injectable, and Implantable HIV PrEP among Cisgender Women in the US"	Principal Investigator	6/2021 – 8/2022
The proposed study plans to use qualitative and quantitative methods to identify factors that aid in the understanding of preferred PrEP modalities and barriers/facilitators to potential adoption in order to develop future programs to aid in increased PrEP adoption among Black women in the South.
1R34MH128054-01 National Institute of Mental Health, $725,201 "Increasing HIV/STI Home Testing, Linkage to Care, and Linkage to PrEP via a Digital Intervention among Black Women in a Geographic Hotspot"	Principal Investigator	7/2021 – 6/2024
The proposed intervention is a web-based intervention guided by theoretical components to increase HIV home testing among Black women at risk for HIV and sexually transmitted infections (STIs) in a HIV hotspot in the South. The intervention will promote using the home test, linkage to care, and linkage to pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) evaluation. The intervention has the potential to be implemented on a large scale and tailored based on location and population to increase testing, treatment, and PrEP adoption.
Past Research Support
Loan Repayment Program National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, $70,000 "Evaluation of Structural & Syndemic Factors on PrEP & HIV Risk among Black Mothers in Austin, TX"	Principal Investigator	7/2018 – 6/2020
The first study aims to qualitatively explore the structural and syndemic factors related to PrEP adoption and adherence. The second study will quantitatively evaluate the direct and indirect relationship between housing instability and poverty, and HIV risk. Results from both studies will be used as preliminary data to develop a multi-level HIV prevention supportive-based housing intervention for Black mothers.
CHPR Pilot Grant St. David's Center for Health Promotion & Disease Prevention Research in Underserved Populations Pilot Research Grant, $29,995 "Exploring PrEP Adoption and Adherence among High Risk Black & Hispanic Women in Austin, TX"	Principal Investigator	2/2018 – 1/2020
This study is exploring the structural and syndemic factors related to the feasibility and acceptance of adopting and adhering to PrEP to prevent HIV infection among high-risk Black and Hispanic/Latina mothers. Co-PI: Kasey Claborn, PhD
T32 OMH19985 (PI: Pinkerton) NIMH, CAIR Postdoctoral Developmental Grant, $20,732 "PrEP Acceptance & Adherence among High-Risk Black Women"	Principal Investigator of Developmental Grant	12/2015 – 5/2017
The project evaluated the feasibility and acceptance of adopting PrEP to prevent HIV infection, and explored situational cues and barriers to PrEP adherence among high-risk Black women in order to develop a culturally-tailored, theory-based behavioral intervention to promote PrEP. Faculty Mentors: Julia Dickson-Gomez, Ph.D., Andrew Petroll, M.D.
Chancellor's Mini Grant (PI: Blanco) California State University, Chancellor's Doctoral Incentive Program Mini Grant, $1,445 "Breaking the Cycle: Health Disparities among Non-Heterosexual College Students"	Co-Principal Investigator	11/2012 – 09/2013
The objective of the study was to investigate history of drug use, sexual risk behavior, support resources, and feasibility/acceptability of an HIV and IPV prevention intervention within the LGBT community at a diverse university.
Chancellor's Mini Grant (PI: Blanco) California State University, Chancellor's Doctoral Incentive Program Mini Grant, $942 "HIV & Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) Prevention among Childhood Sexual Abuse (CSA) and IPV Survivors: The Untold	Co-Principal Investigator	03/2012 – 09/2013

Stories”

This study elicited feedback about a proposed HIV/IPV intervention among survivors of CSA and/or IPV.

Transdisciplinary Grant Principal Investigator 11/2011 – 06/2012

Claremont Graduate University Hillcrest Transdisciplinary Grant, $1,300

“Preventing HIV & IPV among CSA & IPV Survivors”

This study examined support systems, HIV prevention, and feasibility of an online HIV/IPV intervention among survivors of CSA and/or IPV.

Transdisciplinary Grant Principal Investigator 11/2009 – 06/2010

Claremont Graduate University Hillcrest Transdisciplinary Grant, $1,000

“Reducing HIV Misconceptions through Vested Interest & Social Marketing”

This study investigated HIV/AIDS beliefs, intentions, and strength of implementation intentions about condom use among drug diversion clients.

Not Funded

Linked Standard Research Innovation Grants Principal Investigator 10/2021 – 9/2023

American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, $450,000

“A Virtual Intervention to Prevent Suicide among Women of Color who Experience IPV”

The proposed study aims to: 1) Evaluate the feasibility, acceptability, and efficacy of a virtual suicide prevention intervention among women of color who experience IPV; and 2) Explore racial/ethnic differences regarding intervention feasibility, acceptability, and efficacy among women of color who experience IPV.

1R34MH128053-01 Co-Investigator 7/2021 – 6/2023

National Institute of Mental Health, $715,651

“Leveraging Video Logs to Enhance HIV Prevention Messages for Southern Women”

The of the proposed study is to improve engagement in HIV prevention services among cisgender women residing in Texas by using a single research strategy to deliver two synchronous, but separate interventions tailored to women in Texas and healthcare providers (HCPs) of women in Texas.

COVID-19 Recovery Fund – Phase II Principal Investigator 1/2021 – 12/2021

St. David’s Foundation, $150,000

“COVID-19”

Intimate partner violence (IPV) rates are highest among minority female youth. Stressful events (e.g., COVID-19) increase occurrences of IPV. Safety decision aids for IPV, particularly using a digital platform, can mitigate negative outcomes. The proposed study will adapt a previous app to combine a tailored safety decision aid for IPV with local resources and an intervention strategy to increase the use of safety plans for Black and Hispanic female youth of low socioeconomic status.

Major Research Grant Principal Investigator 1/2021 – 12/2023

William T. Grant Foundation, $600,000

“Implementation of a Digital Intervention to Decrease Intimate Partner Violence among Underserved Minority Female Youth”

IPV rates are highest among female youth ages 18 – 24, particularly among Black and Hispanic youth. Health services are rarely sought by survivors after experiencing IPV, particularly Black and Hispanic survivors who often lack access to or information regarding social services. The increased use of digital technologies due to COVID-19 can be leveraged to mitigate IPV and reduce health inequities among Black and Hispanic female youth. The proposed study will expand upon the MyPlan app by combining a localized tailored safety decision aid and intervention strategy to increase the use of safety plans/resources.

1R34MH123313-01 Principal Investigator 4/2020 – 3/2023

National Institute of Mental Health, $702,626.00

“Increasing HIV/STI Home Testing via a Web-Based Intervention among Low-Income Black Women in a HIV Hotspot: Empowered to Test Yourself”

This study aims to develop and pilot a web-based intervention guided by theoretical components to increase HIV and sexually transmitted infection (STI) home testing among low-income Black women in a Southern HIV hotspot. The intervention will target increasing home HIV/STI testing and linkage to care and pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP).

1R21MH124088-01 Principal Investigator 6/2020 – 6/2022
 National Institute of Mental Health, $417,071.00
 “Development of a HIV Stigma Reduction and Gender Equity Multi-Level Intervention to Increase HIV Testing among Nigerian Youth”
 This study aims to develop valid scales to evaluate HIV stigma, gender norms, and HIV stigma policy awareness/practice among Nigerian youth ages 15 – 24 to inform intervention development guided by community mobilization to decrease HIV stigma and unequal gender norms and increase HIV testing.
